

Reimagining English: Creative and Innovative Pathways to Language Education

This talk explores the transformative potential of integrating creativity and inclusive pedagogy into English language classrooms. By embracing creative pedagogies with an intercultural dimension, educators can design learning experiences that invite students to engage with language in personal, meaningful ways. Through such approaches, learners are empowered to express their experiences, perspectives, and cultural identities—fostering not only linguistic development but also deeper interpersonal and intercultural connections.