

The Significance of Textbook Selection in ELT

Abstract

In English Language Teaching (ELT), the selection of textbooks is crucial. This session explores key questions: How important are the right selection criteria? Is it worthwhile investing time in choosing materials? What impact does the choice of textbooks have on teaching and learning? Where should educators begin? What tools are available, and how can they be utilized effectively?

Engaging in scholarly debate on these questions can enhance our professional practices. Collaborative reflection can yield valuable insights and improve our search processes, ultimately benefiting our pedagogical approaches.
